Strawberries and Music.

This new and beneficent institution, located at Laurel, on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad a few miles north of Richmond, is already doing a noble and hopeful work. Mr. and Mrs. Sampson, who have charge of the place, have had long and successful experience in a similar institution in the West and seem eminently fitted for the place, ruling their young household with firmness mingled with a tender, loving sympathy that wins the hearts of the boys. Sixteen boys constitute the present family and the number could be greatly increased if the accommodations could be enlarged.

A service of special interest was enjoyed there on Friday night, greatly to the delight of the boys and the neighbors who dropped in. First of all a few invited guests from Richmond sat down to a real strawberry feast on the celebrated "Laurel" berries, lavishly provided by Mr. and Mrs. Sampson. Then followed a happy service in the dining-hall, conducted by Rev. W. B. Williams, secretary of the institution, consisting of Scripture readings, a service of song by the boys, solos and duets by Mr. Hunter and Misses Dashiell and Williams, with a timely and striking address by Mr. J. D. K. Sleight, filled with words of counsel and encouragement to the boys and bright with well-chosen illustrations. Then followed more music, the benediction, and "good-night."

Mr. Williams intends to have similar meetings hereafter, as he feels that they will do much good. Much regret was expersed by all at the absence of the president, Major Robert Stiics, through press of other engagements. Strawberries and Music, sion in the history of this organization. Adjutant General Glenn, of North Carolina, recently wrote to Colonel Jones as follows: "I am glad to be able to tell you that all arrangements for our encampment have been provided and it will be held from July 17th to 24th inclusive. "We will again occupy the seaside park. This is a beautiful grove, and I am sure we can all get along very pleasantly and happily in it.

"I was in a consultation with the Inspector-General, Colonel Smith, the quartermaster, and Colonel of the Second regiment on last Saturday at the camp-grounds, and we laid off the grounds and gave you what we all considered the best place. I am sure you will be well pleased and I assure you we will do everything that we can for your comfort.

"Our Quartermaster-General will fur-nish you with floors for your tents and we will have couches such as we used put up for you. Don't hesitate to call on us for any thing that we can do for you, for I assure you it will give us pleasure." SPECIAL GUESTS OF THE SECOND REGIMENT The First regiment, while at Wrights-ville, will be especially looked after by the Second regiment of North Carolina, of which Colonel W. C. Jones is commander. From information received there is every indication that the visit of the Virginians is looked upon by the officers and men of the North Carolina Guard with most pleasant anticipations. Their letters indi-cate a desire to do everything in their power to make this encampment agreeable in every way.

The officers and men of the command are now very busy putting everything in proper shape for the trip.

The commissary of subsistence, Captain Cyrus Bossieux, will have entire charge in camp. He has had this office for years camp. He has had this office for years and a fine opportunity will be afforded him to exhibit his knowledge of how to care for the "inner man." The quartermaster, Captain Tennant, will have his time fully occupied with the transportation of the stores for the proper accommodation of the regiment. This is no small job. It will require seventy-two tents to accommodate the officers and men. He will also have to carry the feed for the field and staft officers' horses as well as the stores of the ordnance and commissary officers. FRANK TO BE KEPT BUSY.

The ordinance officer, Captain F. W. Cunningham, will be kept busy looking after the targets, rifle-range, and ammunition, and in answering the many questions which will be asked him, since the practice duty to be required of the command is a new addition to the routine of camp life. This is the first year an opportunity has offered itself to obtain this necessary instruction in the use of the rifle.

Colonel Jones said last night that he had every reason to believe that the number of colone some said tast night that he had every reason to believe that the number of officers and men who will go into camp will reach two hundred and fifty. Provision will be made for this number. Each man will carry his own knife, fork, spoon, and cup.

Ample time will be allowed all to fully enjoy the pleasures incident to this camp, which will be many, such as fishing, boat-ing, sea-bathing, and others incident to a seaside resort. The Colonel trusts that ing, sea-bathing, and others incident to a seaside resort. The Colonel trusts that every officer and man on the roster will be able to answer "Here" when the roll is called July 18, 1891, at 8:30 P. M.

The officers of the regiment have been ordered to meet Tuesday night to make final arrangements for the encampment.

An order has been issued to Captain W.
T. Mosby to hold an election Tuesday for second lieutenant in Company C, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Lieutenant Josiah Vaughan.

The Sons of Veterans Company There now seems to be every probability that the company to be composed of members of the Sons of Veterans Camp will be formed. Lieutenant Charles Werne, of the regiment, has been invited to fill the captaincy of the company, and as he is a thorough disciplinarian and organizer his connection with it signifies success. A meeting of those interested in the new or-ganization will be held at the Armory COLONEL BIDGOOD MAY RESIGN It is said in military circles that Colonel J. V. Budgood, commander of the First regiment of cavalry, will shortly resign on account of pressing business duties.

He is a gallant soldier and splendid officer, and his resignation will be received with great regret. Colonel G. Percy Hawes is lieutenant-colonel of the regiment and Major Willie Wickham is major of the regiment. The cavalry is in excellent condition. A new troop will probably be organized this summer.

COMPLIMENT TO CUNNINGHAM. Handsome Testimonial from a Perth

Amboy Lodge of Masons.

Captain Frank W. Cunningham has received a beautiful testimonial from Raritan Lodge of Masons, of Perth Amboy, N. J.

It consists of a set of resolutions handsomely engrossed. In all there are eight pages, splendidly bound in padded leather and satin, with Captain Cunningham's name stamped on the cover in gold.

Some time ago Mr. W. Guy Weaver, president of the Perth Amboy Board of Health, and a prominent Mason of that city, was in Richmond. His health while here was not of the best and Captain Cunningham showed him considerable attention. When he returned home our City Collector gave him a gavel made of wood from Libby Prison to be presented to his lodge. It was in recognition of this gift that the resolutions were sent. To it are appended the names of John L. Palmer, master; E. V. R. Sofield, secretary, and William King, Jr., William E. Ramsay, and W. Guy Weaver, committee. Amboy Lodge of Masons.

Bakers Joining the Union. A mass-meeting of the bakers of Richmond was held last night at New-Market Hall. The object was to induce all non-union bakers to join the union. A large crowd was present and speeches were made by several members of the Trades Council. New life was infused into the organization and about thirty new members were obtained. This brings the total membership up to fifty. Another meeting will be held on the 20th.

There was undoubtedly an elopement of a romantic character in this city yesterday, but who the brave Lochinvar and his bride that was to be, and perhaps now is, were could not be ascertained.

It should be stated, however, that the above "insuendoes," as a friend of the DISPATCH has it, do not apply to Richmond fishermen, than whom a more truthful set of men never existed, the veracious George not excepted.

First, there is the veteran W. S. Wood, than whom none are better informed as to fishes and fishing in these parts. Next might be mentioned Deputy-Sheriff J. M. (Mike) Macon, who handles a member of the finny tribe with the same urbanity that characterizes him in serving a process. Richmond, Va., June 5, 1891.

T. S. Lioyd, Esq.. Master Mechanic Chesapeake and Ohio Ratiteay:

Sir.—Your communication of the 4th was received and carefully noted. It was not our expectation at the time our communisation to you was sent that a contract existed between the Locomotive-Works and the Chesapeake and Ohio railway to have your castings made, as we were of the opinion that this contract had been annulled shortly after the strike of the Locomotive-Works occurred. Had we known that the contract existed we would not probably have directed our first letter KNOWS ALL ABOUT IT.

Another expert is the ex-Postmaster, who lovingly describes himself as "Little Billy Cullingworth." It has been hinted that it was a tellow-feeling for a brother fisherman that led Mr. Cleveland to bestow the honor on him that he did.

THE COHONE CLUB. Perhaps one of the best-equipped fishing clubs in the South is the Cohoke, composed of Richmond and Manchester gentlemen. This organization owns a pond near Cohoke station, on the York-River railroad. It has a mill on its property, located just at the head or tidewater. The wheels are acquired with a section of scoops covered at the head or tidewater. The wheels are equipped with a species of accops covered with meshes of netting, so arranged as to pick the fish out of the water and throw them into boxes on either side, from which those of desirable kinds are thrown into the control of the water and the control of the control those of desirable kinds are thrown ato the pond. By this means more fish are put in the pond each reason than are taken out. The facilities of the club are unsurpass-ed. Live bait is supplied by the mill-wheel above referred to. They have a boat-house and several boats, each of which has a well in the centre for the preservation of the minneys.

The York-River trains stop at the bridge over the pond. A letter sent a day in advance enables the lucky club-man to step from the train into a boat all ready for fishing.

Now it happens that this particular fish does not bite at the hook, so when several other members who were up on fish lore saw the bunch they were not a little surprised. They said nothing, but allowed him to pursue his way homeward in peace. To this day his wife thinks him a wonderful fisherman and the club-men are mum.

Among the members of the club are Messrs. J. W. Bronaugh, Jr. (president), E. B. Taylor, Orin L. Cottrell, H. A. McCurdy, C. P. Lathrop, James E. Kearney, W. Ashby Jones, T. W. Tignor, H. B. Owen, H. M. Smith, Jr., J. P. Robinson, H. C. Beattie, W. I. Clopton, and E. H. Fisher.

"We went over on Sharp's island, and not having much luck soon got tired. After awhile I noticed a rope tied to a tree, and pulling on it found that some one had caught a sturgeon and tied it there. I amused myself letting the rope in and out a few times, and then Taz. took hold of it.

"First he let it out a little way a few times and pulled it back again. Then he let the rope out a long ways. The sturgeon must have struck one of the cold streams in the middle river, for with a flip of his tail he darted off like lightning.

"Somehow or other the rope got tangled in Taz.'s heels and in a second he was tripped up and thrown into the river backwards.

"I pulled him out in a minute, but the sight of Taz. Ellett with his good clothes all covered with mud was one of the funniest sights I have ever seen."

KNOCKING DOWN LOW PRICES HIGH PRICEST

To folks with small incomes and large families 'tis hard enough at all times to "make both ends meet," as the saying

'Tis harder still when money is scarce. And yet it's the very people who can af-ford the least that our clothing means the most to. Whether you buy for your-selves or for your children, clothing that's threadbare long before it's worn out or clothing that'll give lasting service, is a big difference to you. We recommend our better grades, but some men MUST spend less, and we supply the best that a small sum will procure ANY WHERE! We commenced "knocking down high prices" when we started in business-nearly three years ago, by the by-and we've been continuing to knock 'em down ever since. Purchasers naturally obtain far greater value for their money if they deal with a manufacturing-retailing establishment doing an immense business on a mode-rate margin of profit than if they get their clothes of concerns who themselves buy from middlemen.
